

Press Release: London, UK
May 2024
London Investor Show

A one-day event and exhibition for retail investors and traders takes place in London on 1st November.

Organisers of the London Investor Show, Investor Conferences UK, prepare to stage the 15th edition of this investor event in London, with support from media partners MoneyWeek.

- One-day event and exhibition, 1 November in London, aimed at private investors and traders
- Keynote speakers include Holly Mead, Craig Rickman, Rodney Hobson, Glen Goodman, Neil Blankstone and Gareth Parker
- Topics covered include “Fundamental Investing and Portfolio Management”; “Share Selection Techniques” and “Financial Planning for Families”; with “Investors’ Question Time” - an open-floor session; and a panel session to discuss “What can the UK’s new government best do to help investors?”.
- Event designed to deliver independent financial education, information and training to private investors seeking to build and manage their own investment portfolios; securing a secure financial future for themselves and their families.

The London Investor Show incorporates The Sustainable & Social Investing Conference - the first of its kind – a conference aimed specifically at private investors, to help them understand how they can use their wealth for good effect, as well as for financial return.

The London Investor Show provides delegates with a full programme of panel sessions, workshops and seminars, discussing the various aspects of investing. As well as drawing on the existing database of previous delegates, investors will be invited to attend from across the UK, with attendance expected to reach 5000 over the one day. Active, engaged investors seeking information and assistance in building and managing their own share portfolio; and investing for a secure financial future.

Commenting on teaming up with new Media Partners, MoneyWeek, Lisa Campbell, managing director of organisers Investor Conferences, said, “MoneyWeek is a great read – all the salient points, carefully distilled from the weeks’ financial press and presented to you in one place. Like the London Investor Show, MoneyWeek aims to educate, inform and better equip investors with what you need to build, manage and maintain a successful share portfolio. Delighted to welcome MoneyWeek as Media Partners with the London Investor Show.” Lisa Campbell, Managing Director, London Investor Show

The event has an impressive line-up of speakers on the day – dedicated to sharing their knowledge and experience with investors who want to learn more.

Andrew VanSickle – Editor of MoneyWeek said, “MoneyWeek has always prided itself on providing investors with information they can profit from. The London Investor Show offers an unparalleled array of ideas and expertise to help them accumulate and protect their wealth. We are therefore delighted to enter into a media partnership with the event.”

Ticket offer for readers

Entry tickets to the London Investor Show cost £25 on the door. Readers can book two complimentary tickets, worth £50, by using this link to REGISTER.

Book Online | Conference Agenda | Sponsorship | Website

Enquiries

Editorial
Investor Conferences UK
Lisa Campbell 07504 237902
Lisa.campbell@investorconferences.co.uk

About ICUK – Organisers of the London Investor Show

Investor Conferences (UK) Ltd was launched in 2010 with the sole aim of providing independent investment training and education to private investors and traders in the UK. ICUK delivers this information through one-day, live events and exhibitions – with workshops, seminars, panel sessions and live debates and interviews. The London Investor Show, the London Trader Show, and the Sustainable & Social Investing Conference each take place on the same day in the same venue – delegates with a ticket to one event, can visit all events. Friday, 1st November 2024 at Novotel London West, W6 8DR. Doors open at 9.30 am and close at 5.00 pm. There is a complimentary creche available for delegates wishing to bring their children.

For more information, please visit: www.londoninvestorshow.com

About MoneyWeek

MoneyWeek is a multiplatform brand, encompassing both a weekly magazine and a website that gives investors information they can profit from. For more than twenty years, our team of experts has been providing unparalleled industry news and in-depth analysis to keep our readers fully informed and ahead of the curve. Every issue includes a comprehensive roundup of stocks to watch, analysis of key market trends, investment strategies and much more.

Find out more at <https://moneyweek.com/>, LinkedIn, Facebook, X (@MoneyWeek) and Instagram (@moneyweekuk).

END.